Students using sponsored Beal University social media sites, such as pages in Facebook and Instagram, are expected to conduct themselves in a manner that complies with the terms of the student code of conduct. The code of conduct also applies to those students who identify themselves with Beal and/or use their Beal University email address in social media platforms such as professional blogs, LinkedIn, Facebook, etc.

While Beal University does not typically provide editorial review of the content of social media sites used by its students, Beal University does reserve the right to ask students to take down content that is deemed in violation of the student code of conduct, from third party complaints, applicable law or regulation, or computer and network management concerns.

Violation of the rules of conduct present in the Catalog and Student Handbook may lead to dismissal from the University. All disciplinary matters will come before Administration, which will review the complaint, interview the person(s) involved (if deemed necessary) and make a determination of the action. The finding will become part of the student's permanent file, possibly affecting a recommendation from Beal University to future employers. Beal University reserves the right to dismiss any student for whom it feels continuation would be a detriment to the student, fellow students, and/ or the University.
